Ages & Stages and Teaching Strategies

A quick guide for staff | Children of Promise Christian Dayschool

Ages & Stages Questionnaires (ASQ)

A short developmental screening that checks whether a child is developing on track for their age. The parent fills out the questionnaire; the teacher scores it. It is a screening, not a diagnosis.

It looks at five areas:

- Communication - talking and understanding
- Gross motor - big movements like crawling, walking, jumping
- Fine motor - small movements like grasping, stacking, drawing
- Problem solving - learning, playing, figuring things out
- Personal-social - interacting with others and self-help skills

(ASQ:SE focuses on social-emotional development: feelings, behavior, relationships.)

How we score it (updated process)

Parents fill out the questionnaire. Do NOT send the summary page home for the parent to score - the teacher scores it in the staff portal.

- Parent completes the ASQ / ASE questionnaire.
- Teacher uploads it in the portal (Beg ASQ / Beg ASE button) and enters the summary scores.
- Teacher collects the parent and staff signatures on the Lenovo IdeaTab - for every PI child, even if they already signed the paper document.

Teaching Strategies (GOLD)

An observation-based assessment and curriculum system. Teachers observe children during everyday activities and document progress over the year across social-emotional, physical, language, cognitive, literacy, and math development.

What to say when a parent signs

'We use two tools to help your child grow. For Ages & Stages, you fill out the questionnaire and we do the scoring here. Teaching Strategies is how we track their learning through the year. This form is your permission for both. Any questions?'

If a parent asks...

'Is something wrong with my child?'

'Not at all. This is not a test. We do it for every child to make sure they are on track and getting what they need.'

'What do you do with the information?'

'We use it to plan activities and support your child. It stays private, and we share the results with you.'

Quick tips

- Lead with the child's benefit, and invite the parent in - their questionnaire answers matter for ASQ.
- Reassure it is routine - every child does this. Keep it short, then sign on the IdeaTab.
